ABOUT US
Verité Research (VR) is an interdisciplinary think tank that provides strategic analysis and advice for governments and the private sector in Asia.

Founded in 2010 by Dr. Nishan de Mel it is based in Colombo, Sri Lanka. VR has conducted research and private consultancy for multilateral agencies, diplomatic missions, government departments and civil society actors. Verité’s economics, law, media and politics teams cross-fertilise and improve each other’s understanding and insight, providing a powerful lens into Sri Lanka’s complex politico-economic environment.

Verité synthesises the thoughtfulness of academia, the professionalism of business and the commitment of civil society to create a unique value proposition in pursuing the greater good. Verité Research, being a think tank invests in learning and development of its staff.

Vision
An informed world which engages in constructive dialogue and reasoned decision making through transformative research and strategic analysis.

Mission
Enhance critical discourse through relevant and credible information, analysis and solutions to influence the public and decision-makers.

Our Values

1. Professionalism:
   We are competent, deliver on our promises, work efficiently and strive for excellence.

2. Ethical:
   We do what we think is right, even if it comes at a cost.

3. Curiosity:
   We are driven to understand the world around us.

4. Supportive:
   We are more than the sum of our parts. We help each other become better humans, work more effectively and develop professionally. We help each other through critique, sharing and sometimes through plain old-fashioned hand-holding.

5. Humilit
   The more we realise how much we do not know. Respect diversity including different perspectives, backgrounds and cultures. Appreciate everyone’s contributions and what each person brings to the table.
Nishan de Mel
Executive Director

Nishan is an economist with extensive academic, policy and private sector experience. Nishan taught and researched economics at Oxford and Harvard universities. In the 1990s, he sat on multiple Presidential Task Forces in Sri Lanka, playing an instrumental role in designing national policies on Health Sector Reform, Social Security and Tobacco & Alcohol. He also served as the Executive Director of the International Centre for Ethnic Studies and the Sri Lanka Foundation Institute. He sits on multiple private sector boards and consults regularly as a strategist for some of the region’s largest firms. Nishan completed his undergraduate studies at Harvard University, and his graduate studies at Oxford University, where he was a Chevening Scholar.

Subhashini Abeysinghe

VERITÉ MEDIA

Objective: Contribute to education towards responsible media practices and critical consumption of news. The broad areas that the team focuses on are:

Verité Media Team Initiatives:

Media Ownership Monitoring: The “Media Ownership Monitor” (MOM) has been developed as a mapping tool in order to create a publicly available, continuously updated database that lists owners of all relevant mass media outlets - press, radio, television and online media. MOM aims to shed light on the risks to media pluralism caused by media ownership concentration.

For More Information, Visit: Media Ownership Monitor Sri Lanka

The Divide: The Divide is a publicly accessible, continuously updated platform that highlights the differences in reporting between Sinhala and Tamil language newspapers. It mainly focuses on issues relating to transitional justice and reconciliation, minorities, and women. The platform provides weekly observations on these differences.

For More Information, Visit: The Divide

Factcheck.lk: public service platform that monitors a select sample of Sri Lankan media (Sinhala, Tamil, and English) to identify and fact check statements attributed to high-level decision makers in public office on subjects of public interest. The main objective of FactCheck.lk is to improve the space of public understanding and information in Sri Lanka and thereby help to hold decision makers accountable for their public statements as reported in the media.

For More Information, Visit: FactCheck.lk

The Media Analysis: The Media Analysis (TMA) fills a void in mainstream political analysis by assessing the local language media to understand the factors shaping public sentiment. TMA offers cutting-edge analysis and insight into the public mindset by analysing the political and cultural assumptions underlying the Sinhala press reporting, TV coverage and social media posts—including popular memes—on topics of national importance.

PARLIAMENTARY RESEARCH TEAM

Objective: Deepen understanding and accessibility of the political information, through data-driven, insightful, and transformative research and advice.

Parliamentary Team Initiative:

Manthri.lk

What do MPs do in your name?
Manthri.lk is a pioneering trilingual website which, for the first time, profiles the actions and activities of each of the 225 Members of Parliament in Sri Lanka. As a MP monitoring scorecard, Manthri.lk recognizes the need for accountability between MPs and their electorates. In doing so, it seeks to promote transparency and good governance in order to improve Sri Lanka’s democratic framework.

Additionally, Manthri.lk also provides a profile for each MP, detailing their educational background in addition to their contact and social media details. In doing so, Manthri.lk seeks to improve the flow of information between MPs and the general public. It also intends on incentivising better performance by MPs in light of the enhanced scrutiny of their parliamentary activity.

Johan van der Ploeg
Zuyd University of Applied Sciences Maastricht, the Netherlands

The reason that I applied to Verite Research was for me to gain practical experience in economic policy analysis in a think tank. The work thus far already made me better at data analysis, research writing and critical thinking. What I highly value from Verité Research is that the work does not stop after the research is finished. After the analysis, we have to get our message across by stripping our research of unnecessary technical jargon to get the impact we want, informing the wider public on evidence-based policy.

Currently, I am mainly focused on trade relations between the EU and Sri Lanka. The team values the knowledge I bring from my background, studying European Studies. What I value in return from my colleagues is the broader perspective they give me on the impact EU policy has on not only Europe but what it can have even in a smaller garment factory in inland Sri Lanka. I believe that especially Verité Research is valuable to give me these insights as it is not an international organisation with an eagle view of policy issues, but a national organisation deeply rooted in Sri Lankan society. When I converse with newly made friends whom I meet along my travels through Sri Lanka I notice that they are aware of Verité’s work and value it, making me proud to work for Verité Research.

Hana Rajap
Psychology And Political Science, University Of Chicago

I interned with the politics research team at Verité during the summer of 2017. Over the course of my internship I had the opportunity to assist the team on a number of primary and secondary research projects, drafted research briefs on the findings of said projects, gained insight into the methodology behind 'The Media Analysis', and carried out data analysis for Manthri.lk. All in all, the internship was a truly rewarding experience.
Shalini Corea
Political Science and Theater, NYU Abu Dhabi

Working at Verité Research provided me with the ideal balance of stimulating research and learning the ropes of the work environment. As an intern, I greatly appreciated the trust placed in me, the interest shown in mentoring me and the extremely knowledgeable, yet approachable people I had the opportunity to interact with.

Matteo Busto
Prism Division, European External Action Service, Brussels

Verité is a highly dynamic environment: working closely with colleagues in the politics research team, I learned about Sri Lanka’s parliamentary dynamics, security structure and media landscape, among other issues, from a privileged angle. The time at Verité has truly strengthened my passion for international affairs.
Taryn Gehman
Anglophone Modernities, Universität Potsdam, Germany

Working for Verité Research was one of the most intellectually growing experiences in my professional career. The Verité cohort provide the space for people from all different backgrounds to learn and share their ideas in order to produce informed research. I learned so much from their commitment to collaboration, collegial spirit and wickedly smart team members.

Laura Érsek
Economics, University Of Surrey, UK

My internship at Verité Research gave me a rich experience from many aspects. It let me accumulate work experience which required great precision and responsible attitude. It also allowed me to get insight operation of the institute, and take part in all kind of events: meetings, presentations and team building day. Colleagues at VR were keen to introduce me to their country and learn about their culture.
